2. President Tokayev proposes setting up SCO investment fund: President Tokayev outlined priorities of strategic importance under Kazakhstan's upcoming chairmanship of the Shanghai Cooperation Organization (SCO) following the July 4 SCO Summit online. a). The President proposed to the SCO Council of Heads of Government to consider establishing a joint Investment Fund. The Astana International Financial Centre (AIFC) can be an effective platform for stimulating direct and portfolio investments in regional SCO projects. The SCO's economic agenda should prioritize creating favorable conditions for mutual trade growth, removing existing trade barriers and launching joint ventures. b). The systematic reduction of the digital divide different countries and social groups must become a real priority in the work of the SCO. India, during its presidency in the SCO, has done a lot of work to develop cooperation in this direction. According to Tokayev, favorable conditions have been created in Kazakhstan for a comprehensive digital transformation. The country ranked 28th in the UN E-Government Development Index last year, the highest position among the SCO member states. Kazakhstan offers its services as a digital hub in the SCO space. Therefore, the President believes it is important to host the SCO Digital Forum in Astana in 2024. c). The President Tokayev has initiated adopting the SCO's Anti-Drug Strategy for 2024-2029 and the Action Program on its implementation. All these measures will help promote sustainability and ensure security in the SCO space.
